Menon Institute of Legal Advocacy & Training (MILAT)

MILAT was set up by Prof Menon's students and well-wishers as an educational non-profit society for legal education, training, research and extension activities for legal personnel with an objective of skill development, professional training, building legal awareness and legal reform. Prof Menon was the first Chairman of this Institute. The Institute, in association with Bar Council of India, State Bar Councils and various law schools across the country, conducts professional development training programmes on legal education and legal advocacy for law teachers and advocates serving as a knowledge partner in such initiatives. The training programmes and workshops organized on advocacy, legal education and research have enabled creating a cadre of well-trained lawyers, legal professionals, law teachers and researchers in India.

CLEA Commonwealth Legal Education Association (CLEA)

Founded in 1971, CLEA is a Commonwealth-wide body which fosters and promotes high standards of legal education in the Commonwealth. It has regional Chapters and Committees in South Asia, Southern Africa, West Africa, the Caribbean and Europe. The goal of the Association is to make legal education socially relevant and professionally useful, by developing law curricula and teaching methodologies; assisting law schools in preparing themselves for the demands of the profession in the context of the information revolution and other global challenges; and supporting continuing legal education and distance learning programmes.

The Commonwealth Institute for Justice Education and Research (CIJER) has been set up at Lloyd Law College in 2017, under the auspices of Commonwealth Legal Education Association (CLEA) - ASIA to serve as a dedicated research wing with an aim to contribute to legal research on international, regional and national policy formulations and propose reforms.

Indian Law Institute (ILI)

The Indian Law Institute [ILI] was set up on 27th December, 1956 as an autonomous body registered under the Societies Registration Act XXI of 1860. Cultivating and promoting the science of law and contributing substantially in reforming the administration of justice, so as to meet the socio-economic aspirations and needs of the people through law and its instrumentalities are the prime objectives of the ILI. Being an International Centre for advanced socio-legal research, ILI has done significant work in the field of legal research, education and training. In addition to performing important advisory role in promoting empirical research and moulding law into an instrument of social engineering, it undertakes research on current legal issues. The Institute has achieved the stature of being a premier centre of national & international legal research and studies, in which the lawyers from all branches of the profession, judges, government officials and academicians have been participating. It regularly conducts training programmes for teachers, lawyers, judges and policy-makers. It is a UGC-recognized centre for refresher and orientation programmes.

Lloyd Law College (LLC)

Lloyd Law College is a premiere educational institution offering legal education since year 2003 in affiliation with CCS University, Meerut, U.P. (state university established in 1965), and approved by the Bar Council of India (Statutory body for professional legal education in India). The College offers three year and five year L.L.B. courses focusing on imparting skills required for excelling in legal profession through moot courts, mock trials and arbitrations, legal aid clinics, legal research, etc. rather than merely providing theoretical academic inputs. A sprawling green campus, well equipped class rooms, a library with an impressive collection of books and e-resources, court rooms for holding mock trials and moot courts, specialized centres for Alternate Dispute Resolution and Corporate Law Practice and a committed army of passionate law teachers to guide the students have earned the College a position in top 10 Law Colleges in the country. The College has progressed tremendously under the mentorship and has greatly benefitted from the patronage of Padma Shri Prof. (Dr.) N.R. Madhava Menon, "The living legend of Law" and "The Father of modern legal education in India."

Why should you participate?

Legal education hitherto focused only on teaching law students about general law – substantive and procedural laws. The skills of advocacy were learnt only in a senior's office after enrolment and observing the operations of court during practice. The careers that an aspiring law graduate these days can pursue are diverse – a policy-maker in Government or regulatory organizations giving legal opinion interpreting law, framing rules/regulations, handling litigation etc.; a corporate law practitioner handling legal issues like drafting and enforcing legal contracts, arbitration/ mediation, mergers / amalgamations, representing in Tribunals, being an insolvency professional etc.; a solicitor handling drafting, pleading, conveyancing and giving legal opinion/advise without going to courts; an activist taking up causes of social relevance and representing the underprivileged; and a lawyer handling litigation in courts. A career in legal education and legal research is also an attractive option, given the need for building capacity of legal professionals and conducting research on various aspects of law in operation, developments in law internationally including new areas etc., thereby helping in evolution of law to meet changing societal needs. The students cannot be equipped for these multifarious roles without proper orientation in the law colleges. An army of competent, committed and passionate law teachers, who are equipped in teaching and research, is the need of the hour for imparting the requisite knowledge, skills and attitude to the law students. The course, curriculum design, planning and handling of sessions have all to be tuned in such a way that the students have to be equipped to be profession-ready for performing various roles. The workshop, being organized by MILAT and CLEA in association with ILI and LLC, intends to deliver these inputs effectively to young law teachers.

Who should attend?

Young law teachers of Law Colleges/ Department/ Faculty/ Law Schools who have not completed more than five years in teaching law; and senior research scholars pursuing Ph.D. in Law and who aspire to become law teachers, from various universities in India can apply in the prescribed format.

About the Workshop

The one month workshop will comprise of three phases:

- i) 7-day fully residential face-to-face interactive training at Delhi in Indian Law Institute and at Lloyd Law College, Greater Noida to provide theoretical and practical inputs in law teaching and research by experts and professionals.
- ii) 3-week on-the-job practical application of inputs from the workshop in preparing a (a) Project involving Designing Course Curriculum, Preparation of Course Plan and Course Module including session plan; and (b) Research Plan and a research article by candidates at their respective institutions under the continued guidance of experienced mentors / supervisors.
- iii) Project Submission, Evaluation and Feedback by a Panel of Experts and Certification.

What is the Pedagogy adopted?

During the 7-day training, collaborative sessions, case studies, group discussions and audio-visual content would be used. The sessions would be collaborative, handled by renowned academicians providing theoretical inputs and Senior Advocates or professionals providing the practical or operational orientation. The focus of the training would be on practical exercises, both individual and group. The specific topics for interaction during the sessions would be based on the subjects being taught or areas of research of the participants based on the details furnished in the application. There would be a Video recording of lecture (at the Video Lab at Lloyd Law College) by each of the participants on the subject of their choice to enable them to assess and improve upon the skills of handling a session and delivery of lecture. Ideal approaches to preparation of course curriculum, course module and session plan would be discussed to enable drawing up a course curriculum, module and session plan. Research planning, conduct of research and writing a research article are skills which are required for law teachers and researchers for their own use and for guiding students. Projects on preparation of course curriculum, course module and session plan on a subject and preparation of research plan and writing a research article would be given to each participant to be prepared during the 3-weeks for practical application of skills learnt during the training. An experienced and dedicated resource person as mentor would be associated with each student to continually interact and guide the participants during the practical application period. The evaluation and feedback of the lecture and projects by a panel of experts would help making the learning exercise complete. The workshop would provide ample opportunity for young teachers and researchers to not only get hands-on experience in teaching and research but also to interact with other law teachers, discuss issues and share experiences.

Field trips / Visits

During the training program, all efforts would be made to take the participants on field trip/visits to constitutional institutions like Supreme Court of India/Parliament and specialized institutions like National Consumer Dispute Redressal Commission or National Green Tribunal to see law in action.
