About the Workshop

This workshop is chaired by our Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, Prof. (Dr.) N.S.Santhoshkumar, to facilitate the students of legal education across Tamil Nadu to develop their skill. In the modern era, most of the law graduates are moving towards Corporate field and hesitate to enter the legal fraternity. This is due to the absence of advocacy skill. With the support and assistance of our Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor, we planned to conduct a three days national level workshop on art of advocacy. This workshop will provide basic structure of advocacy, presentation, communication, personality development and drafting skills. The eminent speakers of the workshop include Hon'ble Judges of High Court of Madras, Advocate General, Additional Solicitor General and Senior Counsels from Madras High Court who will impart their valuable knowledge on the theme of the workshop. The main objective of this workshop is to inculcate to the law students about the various nuances of advocacy.

About Madras Bar Association

The Madras High Court was established in the year 1862 by a Royal Charter. Barristers who were practicing in the High Court formed an Association in the year 1865. The Association was named as the Bar Association. From the available records, it is noticed that the first meeting of the Association was held on 14th March, 1865. To start with, only British Barristers were enrolled as members. After a decade or two, Indian Barristers were permitted to become members. Arnold White became the Chief Justice (1899- 1914). When the High Court was shifted to the present magnificent building in 1892, a hall was given to the Madras Bar Association. In a meeting held on 30th April, 1898, it was resolved to name the Association as the "MADRAS BAR ASSOCIATION". During the World War II, Madras High Court was shifted to a school in T.Nagar. This Association was also shifted to 18-A, Rajabathar Mudaliar Street, T.Nagar, on 6th July, 1942. After Independence, the number of Barristers' dwindled. In 1951, it was decided to admit advocates who obtained law degrees from Indian Universities as Members. In 1983, for the first time, Mr.M.R.Narayanaswamy, a Non - Barrister, was elected as the President.
