Dr. B. Viswanathan is an Assistant Professor of English in The School of Excellence in Law, The Tamilnadu Dr. Ambedkar Law University. At the age of twenty nine, he completed his Phd. While he was doing PhD, he cracked both NET and SLET exams. He is an erudite scholar of Postmodernism as well as Feminist Literary theory. He is an avid reader of postcolonialism. His works are based on multidimensional views of the most famous literary personalities which include the Indian Writer, Upamanyu Chatterjee and the western philosopher, Margaret Drabble. He is very familiar in his creative writings. He is versatile character and prodigious literature personality in language, literature, culture, and humanity. His eagerness of involvement is an account of his own experience and eagerness of gathering information from daily lives of common people in eastern and western society. The literary works and his perspectives of the contemporaneous views of the society are admirable in nature.
