Legal education in modern times is not just confined to practicing law alone. Its scope and ambit is even expanding and its impact is felt in every sphere of human life. In view of the expanding horizons of law and justice and emergence of new jurisprudence, legal education needs well equipped lawyers, judges academics and other related professionals including para-legals in the economically globalised world.

The Tamil Nadu Dr.Ambedkar Law University in conformity with its objectives and functions of enhancing the prospects of students of the University to secure better grades, placements from multiple agencies in India and abroad and also to meet professional challenges has entered into Memorandum of Understanding with AIR Law Academy and Research Centre and launches the 'AIR Online Education Support Suite' and 'AIR Law Cafe'

This Education suite offers this facility to the students of School of Excellence in Law, TNDALU. All India Reporter Legal Databases cover case laws since the privy council era and customised education web portals with the facility of Legal Education Study tools like AIR Legal Articles Data base, Judgments, Legal News and Updates & Research Tools like E-Books on Law Subjects, Case studies, Moot Court Exercises etc

This happened to be a modern innovation in the legal pedagogy. When Artificial Intelligence is added as a service element due to the technical development and its culmination in making life easier and happier imparting law is also to fine tune the novel methods of making law teaching easier, innovative and up to the standards of international law schools. Technical devolutions have resulted in invention and application of instrument equipments and applications that makes learning law handy simple and nimble in the modern context.

Many law schools in India especially in Tamil Nadu have been handicapped by non availability of such instruments and applications. Many Moot Court participants in Tamil Nadu preparing to compete in international competitions have felt this major deficiency as impacting achievements of excellence and competing with international Moot Court teams. It is the responsibility of previous law imparting instruments to assimilate their standards of instruction compatible with the required expected smart applications and innovative technical means.

Today is the day the darkness is dispelled confounded by technology bared deficiency in imparting legal knowledge. This is to be inscribed in golden letters in the annals of the history of the Tamil Nadu Dr.Ambedkar Law University.
